

Economia Regional 3 – EC00983

CH: 60 horas/aula

Créditos: 04

Docente: Raul da Mota Silveira Neto

Objetivo:

Apresentar e discutir os fundamentos da Teoria Econômica Urbana, particularmente as questões associadas à caracterização e configuração das cidades e aos microfundamentos das Economias de Aglomeração urbanas.

Programa

1. Explicações Econômicas para a Existência das Cidades
2. Modelo Monocêntrico
  - 2.1 Escolha locacional das famílias
  - 2.2 Equilíbrio no uso do espaço urbano
3. Equilíbrio Espacial entre Cidades
4. Economias de aglomeração urbanas e estrutura urbana

Método de Avaliação

Avaliações em sala e trabalho.

Referências Bibliográficas

Arnott, R.J. e Mcmillen D.P. (2008) (edit.) A Companion to Urban Economics, Blackwell Publishing Ltd.

Baum-Snow, N. (2007) “Did Highways Cause Suburbanization?” Quarterly Journal of Economics, May.

Burchfield, M., H.G. Overman, D. Puga, and M.A. Turner (2006) “Causes of Sprawl: A Portrait from Space,” Quarterly Journal of Economics, May.

Brueckner, J., (2011) Lectures on Urban Economics. MIT Press.

Brueckner, J., (1987) “The Structure of Urban Equilibria: A Unified Treatment of the Muth-Mills Model,” in E. S. Mills, ed., Handbook of Regional and Urban Economics, Volume 2.

Brueckner, J., J.-F. Thisse and Y. Zenou, (1999) “Why is Central Paris Rich and Downtown Detroit Poor: An Amenity-Based Theory,” European Economic Review, January 1999.

Brueckner, J., (1987) “The Structure of Urban Equilibria: A Unified Treatment of the Muth-Mills Model,” in E. S. Mills, ed., Handbook of Regional and Urban Economics, Volume 2.

Brueckner, J., (1990) “Analyzing Third World Urbanization: A Model with Empirical Evidence,” Economic Development and Cultural Change, April.

Brueckner, J. (2001), “Urban Sprawl: Lessons from Urban Economics,” in W. Gale and J. Pack, eds. Brookings-Wharton Papers on Urban Affairs.

Brueckner, J. and R. Helsley, “Sprawl and Blight,” Journal of Urban Economics, forthcoming.

Blomquist, G., M. Berger and J. Hoehn, (1988) “New Estimates of Quality of Life in Urban Areas,” American Economic Review, March 1988.

Duranton, G. & Puga, D. (2005) “From Sectoral to Functional Urban Specialization”, Journal of Urban Economics, 57(2): 343-370.

Duranton, G. & Puga, D (2004) “Micro-foundations of urban agglomerations economies” in J. V. Henderson & J. F. Thisse (ed.), "Handbook of Regional and Urban Economics" Elsevier, edition 1, volume 4, number 4.

Fujita, M. (1989)* Urban Economic Theory, Cambridge Press.

Fujita, M., & Thisse, J (2002)* Economics of Agglomeration, Cities, Industrial Location and Regional Growth, Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, caps. 4, 6 e 7.

Fujita, M. & Ogawa, H. (1982) “Multiple Equilibria and Structural Transition of Non-Monocentric Urban Configuration”, Regional Science and Urban Economics, 18: 161-196.

Glaeser, E. (2008) Cities, Agglomeration and Spatial Equilibrium, Oxford Press, cap.4.

Glaeser, E., “Are Cities Dying?”(1998) Journal of Economic Perspectives, Spring.

Glaeser, E., M. Kahn and J. Rappaport, (2008) “Why Do the Poor Live in Cities? The Role of Public Transportation,” Journal of Urban Economics, January.

Glaeser, E. (2008) Cities, Agglomeration and Spatial Equilibrium, Oxford Press, cap.2.

Gin, A., and J. Sonstelie, (1992) “The Streetcar and Residential Location in Nineteenth Century Philadelphia,” Journal of Urban Economics, July 1992.

Glaeser, E. (2008)* Cities, Agglomeration and Spatial Equilibrium, Oxford Press, cap.3.

Glaeser, E. & Maré, D. (2001) “Cities and Skills”, Journal of Labor Economics, 19(2), 316-342.

Glaeser, E. & Saiz, A. (2004) “The The Rise of Skilled City”, Borooking-Wharton Papers on Urban Affairs, 5, 47:94.

Gleaser (1999) “Learning in Cities” Journal of Urban Economics, 46(2), 254-277.

Glaeser, E. and M. Kahn, “Sprawl and Urban Growth,” in J.V. Henderson and J.-F. Thisse, eds. Handbook of Regional and Urban Economics, Vol. 4, 2006

Henderson, J.V., (1982) “Evaluating Consumer Amenities and Interregional Welfare Differences,” Journal of Urban Economics, January.

LeRoy, S., and J. Sonstelie, (1983) “Paradise Lost and Regained: Transportation Innovation, Income, and Residential Location,” Journal of Urban Economics, January.

McGrath, D. (2005) “More Evidence on the Spatial Scale of Cities,” Journal of Urban Economics, July.

Roback, J., (1982) “Wages, Rents, and the Quality of Life,” Journal of Political Economy, December.